NO PROGRESS IN SETTLEMENTS RAIL DISPUTE

Transportation Systems Are Operated Under Direction of Army But No Progress in Parleys

NEGOTIATIONS DELAYED

Washington, Aug. 28.—(AP)—The nation's railroads maintained time operations today under army's direction—but the dispute which had threatened halt the trains was still undecided. The army took over the rail system at 4 p. m. (EST) yesterday. This was on orders from President Truman, who last Friday ordered the railroad industry to be placed under military control by the government to avert a nationwide strike. A half hour after Mr. Truman's order, the two strike-leadering unions called off their dogs scheduled for today. The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Order of Railway Conductors—said their 1,000 members will stay on their jobs for the government. The actual taking over of the railroads by the army was a perfunctory affair. No troops boarded locomotives or moved depots. About 50 uniformed army officers assumed a general sort of supervision under R. Benetson, assistant army secretary. The presidents of seven major roads were put in charge of operations in various sections of the nation with the rank of major. About the only difference under the new rule was that the public could no longer see placards telling of army operations were posted in major road stations. The dispute back of the union threat involved trainmen's conductors pay demands. They asked a 40-hour week and 31-cent daily pay boost for yard service workers and wage boosts for others on moving trains. The carriers accepted a White House proposal for a 23-cent increase and 40-hour week for yard service employees and a five-cent raise for train service workers. A three-year no-strike pledge and a living cost adjustment argument. But the unions rejected that plan and called the strike. All negotiations are off for the time being. But talks are expected to be resumed after a few days.

Directive Silencing MacArthur At V.F.W. Meeting In Chicago Having Wide Repercussions

Washington, Aug. 28.—(AP)—The White House said today that President Truman directed Gen. Douglas MacArthur to withdraw a statement on Formosa "to avoid confusion as to the United States position." MacArthur had sent a statement of his views—saying Formosa must remain in friendly hands—to the Veterans of Foreign Wars encampment at Chicago. Later, he said he had been directed to withdraw the statement. Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross confirmed today what had been surmised—that Mr. Truman himself ordered the withdrawal. Ross to reporters: "In order to avoid confusion as to the U. S. position with respect to Formosa, the president directed that the statement prepared by General MacArthur on this subject be withdrawn." Asked whether MacArthur might be relieved of his command as a result of the incident, Ross said, "the incident is closed."

Simultaneously with the announcement of Mr. Truman's action, the White House released a letter from the president to Warren Austin, U. S. representative in the United Nations. This restated the United States position with reference to Formosa so that there will be "no misunderstanding."

Washington, Aug. 28.—(AP)—General Douglas MacArthur has withdrawn under orders—apparently from President Truman—a statement he planned to make today on Formosa.

Without indicating that he had changed his views, which are known to conflict with those of the administration, the commander of United Nations forces in Korea cancelled a message he had sent to a Veterans of Foreign Wars encampment in Chicago. He told the VFW he did so regretfully. The incident appeared certain to bring wide repercussions, involving as it does the top United States official in the Orient where prestige—or "face"—is so important.

The White House had no immediate comment. A spokesman indicated, however, that Mr. Truman might make his position clear during the day.

In Tokyo, MacArthur replied through a spokesman that he had "no comment" when asked to expand on the circumstances surrounding withdrawal of his statement.

It had been made available last week to VFW officials in Chicago. They in turn distributed it to newspaper, and wire services for use this morning, when it was scheduled to be read at the encampment. However, Clyde A. Lewis, VFW commander, cancelled plans for its reading and asked through an aide that it not be published after MacArthur's cable last night.

"I regret to inform you that I have been directed to withdraw my message to the national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars."

The incident was the second in as many days of knuckle-rapping for high officials of the military establishment who do not agree fully with administration foreign policy.

Secretary of the Navy Matthews was rebuked on Saturday by the State Department—quite evidently.

NARROW ESCAPE—Andrew Thompson, 76, of 7 Mead street, narrowly escaped death or serious injury just before noon Sunday when his car plunged over a 30-foot embankment and landed on its roof in a gully at the head of Jefferson street. Borough police said the man was apparently attempting to turn around in the narrow roadway, but that his car went forward instead of reverse and plunged down the steep embankment. The machine struck a tree near the foot of the embankment and rolled over on its top, pinning the driver in the car until help arrived. He was taken to Warren General Hospital where he received emergency treatment for body bruises and a bump on the head. (Times-Mirror Photo)

Company I To Be Honored At Dinner At American Legion Home On Wednesday

The Warren State Army is one of the busiest places in the town these days. Nine men especially qualified have been inducted to work with the officers in doing the large amount of clerical work required before the Company leaves for Camp Atterbury, some time early next month. The men work from eight to twelve a. m., and one to five p. m. Announcement was made today that enlistments will be received up to September 4th, and there are a few openings for veterans, who may have an opportunity to enlist with the same rank they had when discharged.

Plans have been completed for a dinner to be served at the American Legion Home Wednesday evening following drill at Beatty Field. After the drill the company will march to the Armory to leave equipment. At 7:30 the unit will be met at the corner of Fourth and Hickory street where an escort consisting of a band, Legion drill team, and committee, will lead a parade to the Legion home for the dinner, being furnished and served by the Lewis Catering Service. Weather permitting the meal will be served on tables spread on the lawn. The menu will consist of Swiss steak and everything that goes with it.

This will be the first of a number of events that are being planned to honor the Company between now and the time that the unit will leave for training camp. A joint committee composed of members of the VFW and Legion posts is already at work completing the program that will be staged when the Company leaves Warren.

SENATE READY TO ACT UPON FINANCE BILL

Washington, Aug. 28.—(AP)—The senate cleared the right of way today for a $35,554,000,000 money bill carrying funds to run the government this year. Leaders predicted prompt approval to send the measure to the White House.

Trailing behind it was an emergency defense bill providing $16,771,000,000 in addition to the $14,680,000,000 in military funds in the regular appropriations measure. The emergency bill, passed by the house Saturday, would provide 5,333 new planes and other equipment to fight the Korean war and build up the nation's military strength.

The senate appropriations committee expects to have the emergency measure ready for senate action late in the week. Behind it—but probably delayed until January—will come proposals for an estimated $10,000,000,000 more in military funds.

In advance of senate consideration of the regular money bill, providing money for the year which started July 1, Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn.) called the appropriations group together to see what could be done about house action to kill the senate-house watchdog committee which has checked on Marshall plan spending in Europe.

Senator McCarran (D-Nev.), who heads the present watchdog group, said that if the house doesn't want to go along he would propose that the senate set up its own committee to carry on the work.

Rep. Cannon (D-Mo.) led house conferees in insisting that the senate-house group wind up its work Sept. 1. They won their fight when the conference agreement was reached on the regular money bill.

Officer of the State Police Drowns In A Motorboat Accident

Pittsburgh, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Detective Sergeant Glenn Adams of the state police drowned but two pretty Pittsburgh entertainers were saved after they fell from a motorboat into the Allegheny river last yesterday.

Mildred Don, radio artist and singer and June Arnold, star of a night club ice revue were dragged from the water by Charles Jamal, owner of the Ankara night club. The tragedy occurred near the Cheswick dam about 12 miles northeast of Pittsburgh. It is only a short distance from the spot four persons drowned last June when their motorboat went over the dam.

State Police Captain A. J. Hudock of Greensburg said the trio apparently fell into the water when the motorboat swerved sharply.

Six persons were aboard. The others were Joseph Hall, Murrays—(From Page Five)

First Commander Of New State Guard

Harrisburg, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Col. Raymond E. Goodridge, Washington, Pa., is the first regimental commander appointed in the Pennsylvania State Guard.

Colonel Goodridge was named over the weekend to command the 10th Regiment of the State Guard which will replace a similar regiment in the famed 28th Division.

The Division, backbone of the Pennsylvania National Guard, will be inducted into federal service on Sept. 5 and leave shortly after for Camp Atterbury, Ind., for training.

Major Gen. Frank A. Weber, state adjutant general and commanding officer of the State Guard, said other regimental commanders will be selected shortly.

General Weber is interviewing candidates to command four other regiments to be organized in the home guard.

These are the 16th to replace the 112th Regiment at Erie; the 133rd, to take the place of the 109th at Scranton, and the fourth at Harrisburg to replace anti-aircraft artillery units called up in central and southeastern Pennsylvania.

The regimental setups generally follow the same geographic lines of the present 28th Division regiments.

Hard Fighting Is Reported On Central Front From the Rubble City of Waegwan East to Sea

By The Associated Press
Korean Front: Communists ran 40,000 troops against the northern rim of United Nations defenses, striking close to Pohang airport on east coast. Heavy fighting reported all along line from Waegwan 45 miles east to Pohang. Other Red attacks halted along 120-mile battlefront. Eighth Army commanders say Red drive signals "last gasp" attempt to throw U. N. off Korea. Allied intelligence says real big Red drive yet to come.

Air and Sea War: U. S. warplanes rip into Communists all along battlefront, smashing into air at Pohang advance. Navy reports carrier planes smashed 11 Russian-made Yaks in attack in North Korea. Other carrier planes blasted Red Corvettes tankers and freighters in northern ports. Appearance of vessels on scene indicates aid from some Communist nation.

Tokyo: Air Force denied Red Chinese charges that American planes violated Manchurian territory and hit Manchurian villages. Taipei, Formosa: Nationalist China's defense ministry charges 270,000 Chinese Communist troops mass to aid North Koreans, some already crossed border. Americans report no such troop movements spotted by air reconnaissance.

Tokyo, Tuesday, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Red Koreans drove back the night wing of the 120-mile long jagged Allied defense line Monday night in southeast Korea.

U. S. pilots said the whole northern front east and west from the Nakdong river to the east coast was aflame.

The most severe fighting was before Pohang on the Sea of Japan east coast, and 22 miles north of Taegu near the Red-held village of Uihung.

Red infiltrations were seen behind South Korean lines north of Taegu.

AP Correspondent L. Hal Boyle at Pohang, 65 miles north of the main Allied port of Pusan, reported a U. S. cruiser and three destroyers joined land artillery in pounding the advancing Reds. But the North Koreans advanced in the teeth of the fire.

The Reds won Pohang earlier this month in a surprise attack. They lost it a few days later to counter-attacking Allied troops. The United Nations troops drove them nine miles north from whence they sprang back to the offensive that has carried them to the gates of the No. 2 east coast port in South Korea.

Correspondent Boyle reported U. S. infantry, powerfully supported by armor, moved into position to backstop the South Koreans trying to hold Pohang.

Severe fighting was reported from the central front rubble city of Waegwan 45 miles east to the Sea of Japan coast port of Pohang. Allied pilots reported the heavy fighting late Monday.

Forty thousand of 64,000 Reds pressing the whole Allied Korean defense perimeter were committed in the northern area battle.

The line bent southward most near Red held Uihung, 22 miles north of the central front communications hub of Taegu, and just north and west of Pohang, No. 2 South Korean port on the east coast.

Earlier reports from the U. S. 8th Army in Korea and General MacArthur's headquarters had said the Reds had been contained.

AP Correspondent Hal Boyle landed at the Pohang airstrip just before dark Monday and reported the Reds were 2½ miles from Pohang and advancing against a severe naval and land bombardment.

The Reds before Pohang sprang suddenly from prepared defense positions which they had dug when the South Koreans pushed them back eight to nine miles north of Pohang.

In a message directed to the South Koreans, Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, U. S. 8th Army commander in Korea, urged them to hold, and added:

"It is my belief the over-extended enemy is making his last gasp. Correspondent Boyle said American officers at the Pohang airstrip six miles below the port city, felt the U. S. airfield could be held.

General Walker made his statement after expressing concern over earlier optimistic comment from line troops and officers.

The U. S. 8th Army in a communique late Monday said the Communists advanced to within four miles of Pohang. A general staff officer at headquarters in Tokyo said the Reds were within two miles of the city on the north.

General MacArthur's late Monday communique said the other Red thrust was contained 22 miles north of Taegu near the town of Uihung. Uihung, above Taegu, was occupied Sunday by the Reds.

Motorist Hurt In Crash Near Kinzua Reported Serious

Warren men are in the Warren General Hospital, one of them reported in a serious condition as result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident early morning on Route 59, in McKean county, some miles from Kinzua. The injured are Ken Nelson, aged 30, 15 Orchard street, fractured skull, condition serious, and Guy Kaiser, 29, 111 K street, back injury, the full extent of which will not be known until x-rays have been completed. Olson, 209½ Madison avenue, was also reported to have been in the car at the time, but there is no report of his having been treated at the hospital. Investigation of the accident is being handled by Sgt. John Gentilman, the Kane barracks of the Pennsylvania State police, who was busy on the case at press time this afternoon, and for that on details of what caused the crash were unavailable.

Varied Program of Outdoor Sports Is Staged At Annual Field Day Programs

Warren Field and Stream Club staged another of its successful Field Day programs at Wilder Field Friday night and Saturday, but the attendance was off somewhat from previous years.

The decrease in the size of the crowd was attributed mainly to the road detour problem in getting from Warren to Irvine.

Everything in the full activities program went off as scheduled, including three balloon ascensions, and parachute jumps by Claude Schaeffer, of Indianapolis; a demonstration of shooting skill by Jim Levack, rifle and pistol wizard, and a judo demonstration by John Dahler and his partner, "Spike."

Other highlights of the two-day program included bait and fish casting demonstrations by Dan Ryan of the Penrod Company; the best wildlife exhibit that has been assembled here in many years; a live trout display; a forestry exhibit; and all kinds of rifle and pistol shooting competitive events, including a running deer target for the high-powered rifles.

The ever-popular Fox Hole Inn also was kept busy dishing out its tasty hamburgers and hot dogs.

Damage Resulting From Mill Fire In The West Side Is Estimated at $20,000

The Commercial Lumber Company, West Side firm owned by John Young, was hard hit Friday night by a fire which destroyed the company's 1½-story frame saw mill.

Damage was estimated by members of the fire department at $20,000 and the cause has not been determined. No one was hurt.

The blaze was one of the most spectacular to occur in Warren in many months, and the flames shooting high in the air were visible for several miles. A large crowd gathered at the scene, while others watched the blaze from the Pleasant Township road, across the river from the lumber mill.

All fire fighting equipment in the borough was called to battle the flames, which were discovered shortly after 11 p. m. Friday. The firemen laid 1100 feet of 2½-inch lines, and were at the fire scene until 3 a. m. Saturday.

The fire had gained considerable headway before it was discovered and firemen had to concentrate most of their efforts on keeping the roaring flames from spreading to nearby stacks of lumber and other buildings of the lumber company.

Firemen were called back to the fire scene twice on Saturday, once at 4:24 p. m. and again at 9 p. m., and again on Sunday at 3:48 p. m. to extinguish minor blazes which had started up in the fire rubble.

Warren firemen also had two other calls to round out a busy weekend. First of these calls was at 10:40 p. m. Saturday to 6 Maple Place where a water pipe had broken in the basement, while the second was on Sunday morning at 8:02 o'clock at the B & B Smoke Shop where an ammonia leak was discovered in the refrigeration system.

Revised Security Bill Is Signed By Pres. Truman Today

Washington, Aug. 28.—(AP)—President Truman today signed the revised Social Security bill adding approximately 10,000,000 persons to the old age pension rolls.

The White House indicated there would be a statement later.

Mr. Truman has expressed strong objections to one part of the measure as it went through congress. That is a provision limiting the power of the secretary of labor to cut off unemployment insurance funds from states whose systems he holds do not conform to federal standards.

The millions of additional workers will come under the old age benefit program and begin paying payroll taxes next January 1. Per-

B-29s In New Strike Against Vital War Industries Drop 300 Tons of Bombs

Tokyo, Aug. 28.—(AP)—B-29s in a new strike at North Korea's war industry ran 300 tons of bombs today on Songjin.

The target city is on the Sea of Japan 180 miles north of parallel 38.

Allied fighter planes socked the Red Koreans in close support of ground troops. Light bombers struck deep in Red territory at Pyongyang, Seoul and Inchon.

Navy carrier planes earlier ranged along North Korea's east coast and sank five Red vessels, left six others sinking and 15 burning.

Jack MacBeth, Associated Press correspondent, reported from Korea: "The Fifth Air Force flew 218 sorties by 3 p. m. (midnight Sunday, EST) over the Red-held area made by Air Force, Marine and Australian planes in close support of ground forces.

American Legion Auxiliary Hears Convention Report

Chief Complanter Unit 155, American Legion Auxiliary members, are impressed with the splendid reports brought back from the annual Legion-Auxiliary joint convention held in Philadelphia and attended by Mrs. Nicholas Anderson, secretary, and Mrs. Clara Driscoll, president.

They showed the Pennsylvania Auxiliary membership has reached an all-time high of 91,145, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Howard McKay, who will succeed Mrs. Leona Bradley as president of the state organization in the coming year. Chief Complanter Auxiliary, itself, enjoys the recognition of a citation for quota membership and an award for participation in all Auxiliary activities.

Other outstanding department achievements include 18 new units chartered and the president's project, the Coatesville Hospital grandstand, completed. All phases of work are reported to have surpassed those of any previous year. Information was released that Scotland School will have all facilities doubled when the present building program reached completion. Convention registration, the local women learned, reached a maximum of slightly over 1,400.

These reports were heard at the regular meeting of the local group, as was that of Connie Peterson, 13 North Irvine street, sponsored by the local unit at Keystone Girls' Camp at Scottdale. Her delightfully entertaining and comprehensive report showed 124 girls registered, all of whom had to be high school juniors possessing exceptional qualities in leadership, citizenship, and general scholastic adjustment. Miss Peterson reported the classes in government very interesting and helpful; the tours to Gettysburg and Harrisburg enjoyable and educational.

The business session was preceded by a tureen dinner for which the following served as committee: Mrs. Howard Casey, Mrs. Helen Branch, Mrs. Maude Bright, Mrs. Florence Edwards, Mrs. Betty Brian, Mrs. Christine Scrivano, Mrs. Nicholas Anderson.

The two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Einar Carlson was taken to Jamestown General Hospital Monday evening, suffering with convulsions.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Storms are guests of relatives in Williamsport.

Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Mickelson and daughter, Mrs. Paul Carberg, Jr., returned Tuesday evening from a two weeks' trip to Canada and the Adirondacks.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cody and sons, New Wilmington, are guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cody.

Mrs. Charles Wilson, New Brighton, has been spending several days with Mrs. A. A. Grant, who entertained at a dinner party Monday evening. Other guests were Mrs. Mabel King and Mrs. Louise Warner, Pittsburgh.

Peggy Williams and Penny Duff, Warren, are guests of their grandmother, Mrs. Jen Williams.

Mary Holden, Santa Monica, Calif., former teacher in the local school, has been calling on friends in the community.

Mrs. Samuel Tague, Philadelphia, Mrs. Charles Wilson and Mrs. A. A. Grant and son, Tague, visited Niagara Falls, Canada, over the weekend.

Television in Congress Banned; Absenteeism Is the Answer

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Success of the UN Security Council debates as a television attraction has again raised the possibility of televising or broadcasting the debates in Congress. One of the main objections has always come from the congressmen themselves. Television would reveal that most of the members were not on the floor most of the time.

Also, there is a great fear among the more responsible members of Congress that the demagogues and flannel-mouths would be hogging the mike all the time, to make speeches for home consumption. That would interfere with getting any work done, and be worse than a filibuster.

Long-term benefits might, however, be great. Greatest asset for television at the United Nations is that it has shown up Russian Delegate Jacob Malik in his true light. It has built up a lot of American public opinion against Russian propaganda. If it did half as much in exposing what's wrong with Congress and some congressmen, there would be a net gain in the public interest.

Secret Service Chief U. E. Baughman has reported the capture of one counterfeiter who offered to make bogus $20 bills, "either with or without the new back view, showing President Truman's White House balcony." One coin counterfeiter made phony half-dollars, which he honestly labeled "slug," for use in slot machines. His defense was that it should be no crime to pass counterfeit money on a one-armed bandit.

BUREAU of Employment Security officials are now beginning to worry about labor shortage areas, whereas three-to-six months ago they were worrying about labor surplus areas. Surveying employment conditions in 150 major U. S. industrial areas, BES has been grading them from "A" to "E." The "A" areas have unemployment of less than 3 per cent. The "E" areas have unemployment of over 12 per cent. There are now nine "A" areas—Dallas, Denver, Des Moines, Evansville, Jacksonville, Rockford, South Bend and Flint.

At a Federal Security Agency staff meeting not long ago, one official got up and complained that the organization wasn't in step with the times. He said he didn't think Administrator Oscar Ewing, FSA boss, knew there was a war on. Another official promptly rose and said, "That isn't true. I sent him a memo telling him about it yesterday."

Esther Williams and Van Johnson in Technicolor Musical "Duchess of Idaho" at the Library Theatre Today and Tuesday

Not in many a moon has a Technicolor musical come along with so glittering an array of talent as that offered in "Duchess of Idaho," which brings a Hit Parade of entertainment to the Library screen today and Tuesday.

This captivating new M-G-M confection has just about everything a moviegoer could ask for. With Esther Williams cast as an aquatic star on the run for romance, Van Johnson as a crooning band leader who supplies the latter, John Lund and Paula Raymond involved in a secondary heart-pursuit, and such additional headlines as liting Connie Haines, the sultry-voiced Lena Horne and dancing-star Eleanor Powell adding their distinctive specialties—"Duchess of Idaho" gives you an infectious story of love and laughs set against a background of America's great playground, Sun Valley, and highlighted by such spectacles as water ballet, a big square-dance jamboree and the breathtaking "Torch Parade" in which members of the famous Sun Valley Patrol ski down a mountain carrying flaming torches.

There is such a wealth of entertainment values in "Duchess of Idaho" that it is difficult to sort the wheat from the chaff. But it will be difficult to forget the stunning water ballet sequence in which the spectator views not one but twelve Esther Williams in a swimming pool constructed of mirrors, or the baton-swinging sessions in which Van Johnson sings "Choo Choo Choo to Idaho," "Of All Things" and "You Can't Do Wrong Doin' Right," or Lena Horne's nightclub specialty, "Baby, Come Out of the Clouds," or the lightning-swift tap routine done by Eleanor Powell.

Kiner Week Ahead Of Record In 1949

Pittsburgh, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Ralph Kiner's name went into the National League record books once more today—this time for being the first man in the senior circuit to hit 40 or more homers four seasons in a row.

The big Pittsburgh Pirate left fielder clouted No. 40 yesterday in the twin bill the Buccs lost to the Boston Braves 7-3 and 4-1.

The old mark had been three years, a record owned jointly by Kiner and Johnny Mize, who now hangs out his home runs for the New York Yankees.

If Kiner continues his blazing pace he has an outside chance of beating the late Babe Ruth's season record of 60, established in 1927. It's more likely, however, he will come closer to the National League record of 56 set by the late Hack Wilson in 1930.

Kiner is a week ahead of his own pace of last year when he blasted 54 homers—and was rewarded a $130,000 contract for two years.

Kiner has only 33 games left and but 12 of them will be in Forbes Field. Mr. Slug has hit 25 of his 40 at home—a fact which has helped the Pittsburgh club become the first National League club to pass the million mark in attendance.

Midget Loop Championship Battle Scheduled Tonight

Spouts, Eighth ward team sponsored by the West Penn Oil Co. and the Sons of Italy from the lower Fourth ward, will clash tonight in the third and deciding game of a best-out-of-three series to decide the 1950 Hot Stove Midget League championship.

The game is slated for Jackson field, near the Warren airport at 6 o'clock.

Spouts, coached by Joe LeTrent, won the first game by a 4-1 count, while the Sons of Italy, supervised by Don Cummings, took the second round by an 8-6 count.

The Spouts won a crack at the championship by winning the Midget loop's Eastern Division, while the Sons of Italy reached the playoffs by copping the Western Division pennant.

Young Working Wife Must Set Date to Retire to Her Home

HER parents think she hasn't any business marrying him until he can support her. But he and she both think it's silly for them to wait when they could be married now if she got a job, too.

Who is right? Well, you can't blame parents for wanting to know that a man is able to support their daughter without any help. For parents are old enough to know that the unforeseen can come along to spoil the best laid plans.

Suppose she should have a baby and have to quit her job? Suppose she should find out that combining a job and housekeeping puts too great a strain on her—as many women have found? Suppose this man she is about to marry gets so used to having his wife help earn the living that he comes to expect it as a permanent arrangement?

Those are the questions that pop into parents' minds—and you can't blame them for being concerned.

But thousands of young couples have proved that it is often better to marry young, even though it means that both husband and wife will have to work, than to wait until the young man is able to support a wife.

It seems to me any young couple today has a perfect right to try the experiment.

A WORD OF WARNING

ONE word of warning, though. They should set a definite time limit on how long the wife is to continue working. Whether it is for one year, or for two or three—that should be understood and agreed upon when they marry.

Otherwise they are likely to set a pattern of living that is dependent on both holding jobs. And while that is all right, so long as it is understood that it is temporary, it isn't good over a long term period.

Why? Because a couple keeps putting off starting a family. A man gets used to the idea of having help with the job of earning a living. A woman gets worn out trying to hold down two jobs. And a couple geared to living on two salaries acquire a lot of wants they consider necessities and think they couldn't get along without.

MENU SUGGESTIONS

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

ATTACK the rising cost of living at home. Plan a campaign carefully, using market news, trustworthy cook books and plentiful and therefore less costly items. Also to get best results, plan menus in advance, two for three days at a time.

Need a cook book? The United States Department of Agriculture's "Family Fare" is a 96-page booklet containing excellent advice on food management and recipes. You can get it for 25 cents. Write Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C. This column believes it is one of the best books of its kind published this year.

Here are low cost menus for four days, worked out by the nutrition and market experts of a large Eastern city:

Luncheon: Tomato soup, spaghetti with cheese, bread, butter or fortified margarine, fruit cup, tea, milk.

Dinner: Panned liver with onions, mashed potatoes, steamed tomatoes and celery, cole slaw, bread, butter or fortified margarine, quick coffee cake, coffee, milk.

Luncheon: Grilled mustard cheese sandwiches, celery strips, milkshake, tea.

Dinner: Orange glazed meat loaf, mashed potatoes, snap beans, marinated cucumbers, bread, butter or fortified margarine, quick peach shortcake, coffee, milk.

Luncheon: Egg salad, peanut butter sandwiches, apricots, tea, milk.

Dinner: Tuna stuffed peppers, Harvard beets, mashed summer squash, bread, butter or fortified margarine, fruit float, coffee, milk.

Luncheon: Grilled luncheon meat, succotash, bread, butter or fortified margarine, chocolate milk, tea.

Dinner: Braised breast of veal, parsley rice, buttered carrots, combination salad, bread, butter or fortified margarine, peach ambrosia, coffee, milk.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Sliced peaches, ready-to-eat cereal, toasted corn muffins, butter or fortified margarine, jelly, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Chicken soup with rice, crackers, large garden tomatoes stuffed with cottage cheese and chopped garden vegetables, French dressing, warm crusty rolls, butter or fortified margarine, oatmeal raisin cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Corned beef hash with poached eggs, buttered beets, steamed cabbage quarters, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, steamed blueberry pudding, light cream, coffee, milk.

STRONGER ESPIONAGE LAWS NEEDED

As is usually the case with legislation destined to ride through congress in some form or other, no matter what, because of its vital nature, all sorts of hitch-hikers tried to climb aboard the Defense Production Bill.

Most persistent of the would-be free passengers was the Mundt-Ferguson Amendment for control of the Communists. Like most of the 70-odd other hopefuls, it wound up walking.

The free-ride tradition is a political form of lobbying based on the philosophy of "Scratch my back and I'll scratch yours." Many times it is the only way measures detoured by a lot of fence-straddling can get back on the road to passage.

There could have been no argument for straddling, however, even among the most vote-conscious congressmen, in the bill for Defense Production. The public was ready for some form of economic control when the lawmakers on the Potomac first began hemming and hawing.

Such a measure certainly deserved to be driven home by itself, without the confusion of a lot of sudden stowaways.

By the same reasoning, any bill for the control of subversives, whether their luggage is labeled Communist or any other form of potential treason, is far too important to America's future to be tossed into the same legislative baggage compartment with other measures.

Nobody doubts that Communism started war rolling in Korea. Nobody—not even Malik and his back-seat drivers in Moscow—has any illusions about what Russian Communism is trying to achieve in the UN.

Here at home the American politbureau, convicted of conspiracy to overthrow our form of government, is at large on bail awaiting appeal. At home, also, we have just nabbed the eighth person in recent months to be charged with giving away our atomic secrets to Russia.

We have no idea how many others got away. But what has happened so far is a clear sign that we must strengthen our espionage laws. It must be done without hysteria—legislation that neither grabs a free ride nor carries any other free riders on its tailboard.

Otherwise we are likely to backtrack to the witch-burning days of Salem while the sell-outs ride off with the secrets of Los Alamos.

BACK TO SCHOOL

In another week approximately 3,050 school children in Warren borough and countless hundreds in the rural sections, will start the 1950-51 term. The summer vacation will have ended and another experience in school life will be the lot of these future citizens.

Alterations and repairs have been made to many of the buildings with one large addition to the Home street school. All have been renovated and conditioned for the year.

Some changes have been made in the personnel in many of the schools in the area, and new faces will be seen in the school rooms when the first day arrives. Those attending Beaty building, in Warren, will find in another column today, specific instructions for reporting on the opening day.

During the coming year all schools will be engaged in activities in which the public can give its support—athletics, plays, exhibits, socials, demonstrations, etc. The presence of parents and families of children at these projects is encouraging to those young people who participate.

Cooperation between parents and teachers means much in the progress of the students. Too many parents are prone to be critical of attitudes of others more than the attitudes of their own children. The youngster in school needs encouragement and help at home to solve difficulties. A child neglected at home seldom is a good student in school.

A child's life in school can be a happy life, with all concerned cooperating and working together.

Jacob Malik, the UN Security Council president who kept giving the floor to Jacob Malik, the UN delegate from Russia, decided to follow the usual practice of giving a dinner party for the rest of the delegates at the end of his term as president. The reasoning may have been that by now his tactics had given all the other representatives an ulcer or two, and they would stick to a milk diet. On the other hand, he may have wanted to serve that apple-sauce U. S. delegate Warren Austin insisted Malik was using to fill his jar of propaganda tricks.

"Now Then, Do I, or Do I Not, Get What I Want?"

Here And There

It will surprise many to learn that once upon a time, back in the days of trolley cars and surreys, the Warren Street Railway Company laid tracks from the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing over what was then called "Water street" through the west side. Then when efforts to secure permission of the railroad company to cross the tracks failed, it was decided to remove the rails, which decision resulted in the appearance of the following article in the Evening Mirror of August 28, 1890, just sixty years ago today: "Work of taking up the street railway tracks on Water street, west of Chestnut street, was suspended this morning pending efforts now being made by residents of the west end to raise a sum of money sufficient to guarantee the construction of an overhead crossing on Fourth street. A previous effort was made to raise the required funds but the amount available was something like $1,000 and was inadequate to warrant the street railway company an overhead crossing, which would cost in the neighborhood of between $4,000 and $5,000. No further action was taken in the matter at the time and the affair has been in a state of 'suspense for several months past. When the people were convinced that the street railway company was determined to remove the line they renewed their efforts and a committee is now engaged in soliciting subscriptions. Almost all of the residents living on Water street appreciate that street car service enhances the value of their property and with few exceptions liberal contributions are being made. The street railway company will do its part in the matter, although it has not stated definitely how much the people of the West End will be required to contribute before service can be afforded them. All hopes of allowing a grade crossing over the P. & E. tracks on Water street have been abandoned, and it is realized that the only alternative is to build an overhead crossing on Fourth street. On account of the narrowness of the street, council will not grant permission for such structure on Water street. The Warren Street Railway company will allow the residents of the West End two weeks to determine what they are willing to do in the matter."

"It's A Small World Department." Pfc. Maynard Gibson, 18 of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gibson, 18 Crescent street, known to his family and friends as "Bud," now at the U. S. Air Base at Rhein-Maine, Germany, had the surprise of his life within the past two weeks while reading the Army newspaper "Stars and Stripes" when he came across an item from U. S. A., telling of the fact that employees of the Times-Mirror received their pay the weekend of August 12th, in silver dollars, in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of the Times Publishing Company. The item was headed "Paid in Cartwheels!" The incident was all the more interesting to "Bud" because of the fact that he was employed as a driver for the Times-Mirror several months before entering service in June, 1949, when he drove the papers to Ludlow each publication day.

This And That: The Loyal Order of Moose last week in convention in Chicago, voted unanimously to waive dues of all members in the military service, effective immediately. . . . Miss Edith Carlin was the speaker today at the meeting of the Rotary club, her talk being on the subject "A Student Peeks at Paris." . . . The Corry High school intra-squad game will be played Friday evening. . . . Residents of the upper end of Crescent Park, between the railroad tracks and Biddle street, are hopeful that in the general planning of improvements borough council will find some way to eliminate the source of the stench that emanates from a sewer that empties into the river at Oak street. The odor not only is nauseating but unsanitary. . . . Bradford's American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps marched at the Warrior's Day parade at the Canadian National Exposition in Toronto Saturday. . . . Johnny Nelson, Jr., devoted his column "Sports Corner" in the Bradford Era Saturday, to an interview with Charlie Spring, of the Bradford Field Club, formerly of the Warren office of the Bell Telephone Co., who discussed the annual fall bird dog competition held at the Mount Alton last Saturday and Sunday.

Morning Roundup: Early birds this morning found pools of water on the sidewalks and in the gutters, indicating a light shower during the night. . . . Ray Eckhardt was back of the desk at the police station this morning after a vacation trip of two weeks, during which he put 4,000 miles on the speedometer of the car, and visited scenes in and around Wyoming where he worked on a ranch forty years ago, when he worked for Governor Carey. The location is between Douglas and Casper. The tour included a visit to the Yellowstone National Park, and the party included in addition to Officer Eckhardt, his wife and three sisters, Mary, Clara and Thelma. Ray calls attention to the fact that much of the enjoyment experienced in the tour was due to the fact that the party patronized only those hotels, motels and restaurants recommended in the tour guide of the AAA as furnished through the Warren County Motor Club. . . . Penn Bowling Center is ready for opening Tuesday of next week, at six p. m.,

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Korean War Seen as Instrument Used in Testing U. S. Strength

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—With the Korean war far along, a better appraisal of where we go from here is possible. Some of the original estimates of the situation have been considerably revised. The Korean war is now regarded as a test case. Pentagon briefing officers have been consistently optimistic in declaring that the United States and its UN allies could win this campaign.

If the United States can't end the campaign within a year, it will give the Russians and the Chinese Reds the idea that the U. S. is not so tough. The sooner it is ended, the better a lesson it will be for other Communist satellites.

The most pessimistic estimate is that if we get pushed off, we go back. We have to. Just as we had to go back after Bataan. One of the first impressions was that in Korea, the Communies had struck the United States where it was weakest. Korea is 5000 miles from San Francisco—a long supply line. Logistics problem—admittedly great.

But a second look reveals that perhaps the Russians could not have chosen a better place—from the American point of view. The U. S. has two divisions in Japan which could be spared for immediate duty in Korea, only a few hundred miles away. There was some Air Force strength on Japan and Okinawa. American, British and Australian naval vessels could be quickly assembled. There were supply dumps from the last war left on Pacific Islands. There was a good debarcation port at Pusan.

The total was not all that could be desired, but it was something and it was better than nothing.

Where the Communies will strike next is of course known only to a few people in Moscow. They have cried, "Wolf!" all over the world. But it is unlikely they will telegraph their actual punch.

SOME deductions are nevertheless obvious. If the Communies attack Formosa or in South Asia, they commit only Chinese Red or native revolutionary forces. If they attack Yugoslavia, they commit only Balkan satellite forces. If they attack in Iran, they must commit Russian troops.

If the Communies attack in Germany, they must also commit Russian troops. One great mistake not generally known about in the four-power arrangement on Germany was that the Russians were given two maneuver areas in eastern Germany. The areas run right up to the western boundary of the Russian zone, abutting U. S. and British zones.

Twice a year the Russians have held extensive maneuvers in these areas. They have always played at making attacks from east to west. But they have stopped when they reached the border of the American and British zones. Some day they might hold a maneuver and keep going. That's what the North Koreans did when they crossed the 38th parallel.

The United States and its European allies must be prepared for this attack, if and when it comes. Unfortunately, they have to meet it the hard way. It is contrary to U. S. policy to attack first. Any idea of a preventive war is generally frowned on. So at first it must be a defensive war.

There may be a counter-attack, fast—by air, for instance—to knock out enemy productive capacity. This strategic effort will not in itself stop the Communist forces from trying to overrun western Europe. There must be a firm line in Europe to hold this aggression—just as there was a thin line to hold the North Korean aggression until reinforcements can arrive. That is why Korea is now regarded as the test case for all future possible actions.

MR. AND MRS. JAY WHITE

Baskets of gladioli, palms and candelabra holding white tapers formed the setting in Grace Methodist church Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Beth Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Smith, 9 Grant street, and Jay White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Basil H. White, 13 Myrtle street.

The ceremony was solemnized at 2 o'clock by the Rev. C. W. Baldwin, pastor. Mrs. Kenneth Nielsen, organist, played traditional Wagner and Mendelssohn bridal airs, and accompanied Jean Smith, contralto, who sang "O Perfect Love," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Dressed in white bridal satin, with train, and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a veil of illusion net with hand-rolled edge, falling fingertip length from a Juliet cap of satin bordered with pearls. Matching trim decorated the satin applique in her gown's sheer yoke, which was finished with mandarin collar, while long, fitted sleeves tapered to points over her hands. A white orchid centered her cascade bouquet of white glads.

Attending her as maid of honor, Jeanne Clark wore a strapless gown of rose taffeta, covered by a fitted jacket which had long, tapering sleeves and was trimmed with quilted applique. Her Juliet cap was of matching taffeta, and her arm bouquet was fashioned of aqua glads. The bridesmaid was Marian Kennedy, Butler, college sorority sister of the bride, who wore peacock blue taffeta, styled like Miss Clark's gown, and carried yellow glads. Ann Davidson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry A. Davidson, Jr., and a pupil in the bride's former room at East street school, was the flower girl. Her floor length frock of yellow taffeta had puffed sleeves and Peter Pan collar and her cap was of matching taffeta. She carried a wicker basket of rust-colored pompons and baby's breath.

H. Donald White, Bridgeport, Conn., was best man for his brother, with Randall White, another brother, heading the ushers: Neal Bailey, John Maculla and James Ross, college fraternity brothers of the bridegroom, and Robert Swick, Warren.

Mrs. Smith chose black accessories with a frock of moonstone-colored silk and Mrs. White wore black with black taffeta trimmed in velvet. Each had a corsage of rubrum lilies.

Guests numbering 200 attended

Rosemarie Anderson Will Be Bride This Fall

Sheffield, Aug. 28—Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Anderson, Brookston, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Rosemarie Anderson, to Daniel Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Urban Rosa, Tidoute.

The Rev. M. J. Macken will conduct the ceremony at seven o'clock Wednesday, Sept. 13, in the rectory of St. Clara's Roman Catholic church, Clarendon.

The bride-elect has chosen her sister, Patricia Lou Anderson, for her attendant and Alfred Bornak, Philadelphia, will be the best man. Following the ceremony, a reception will be held at 8 p. m. at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Anderson, a graduate of Sheffield high school with the class of 1944, was graduated from the Orra Jean Beauty academy, Erie, in 1945. Since then she has been employed in the Charm House beauty salon, Warren.

Her fiancé, a graduate of Tidoute high school in 1942, served in the World War II army for three years being duty in the European theater. Mr. Anderson now is attending Drexel Institute of Technology in Philadelphia.

A show honoring the bride-elect was recently held at her home with Mrs. Lester Lewis, Brookston, as hostess.

AKELEY WSCS

Members of the Akeley Methodist WSCS held an evening meeting at the home of Margaret Arthur, with Josephine Lindquist as co-hostess. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Grace Granquist, and Mable Larson led the devotions. The lesson subject was "The Pillars of Earth." Ora Miller, recording secretary, read the July minutes and called the roll with ten members and one visitor present.

Josephine Lindquist, missionary treasurer, and Christie Lundmark, treasurer of local funds, gave reports. It was reported that John Stewart will give oak flooring for the new addition to the church. Evelyn Haller read the hostess list for the coming year, each member to receive a copy at a later date. Grace Granquist and Mable Larson will be hostesses for the September meeting, the place to be announced later.

The program was in charge of the vice-president, Halie Holt. Poem "Worry or Prayer," Mable Larson; program subject, "Christian Education Around the World"; a demonstration, "Christian students from many lands"; Mrs. Holt assisted by Ida Grace Larson, Evelyn Haller and Margaret Arthur. The meeting closed with all present reciting the Lord's Prayer.

TONA LADIES AID

Tona Ladies Aid held its last meeting of the conference year Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. R. Heeter. The hostess served a delicious chicken luncheon and the business meeting was in charge of Mrs. V. R. Brennan. A very successful year was reported and it was decided to hold a cafeteria dinner in the church dining room Thursday evening from 5:30 to 7:30.

After a wedding trip through western Pennsylvania, the couple will be at home to friends at 9 Grant street. For traveling, the bride chose a forest green gabardine suit, brown accessories and a white orchid.

Graduate of Warren High School in 1945 and of Indiana State Teachers College in 1949, where she was a member of Delta Sigma Epsilon Sorority, Mrs. White is at present a teacher in the Warren public school system. Honoring her with parties have been Mrs. Gustave A. Carlson and Frances Ann Carlson; Mrs. Earl C. Christensen and Mrs. Norman Johnson; Jeanne Clark and Jane D'Angelo; Mrs. Perry A. Davidson, Jr., and children at Lacy playground, where she was summer supervisor. Mr. and Mrs. Basil White gave the rehearsal party at their home Friday evening.

Mr. White was also a member of the WHS Class of '45 and was graduated in 1950 from Washington and Jefferson College, where he was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity. He also served with the United States Navy, and is presently employed by Main and Company, Pittsburgh.

ANNOUNCES ENGAGEMENT

Mrs. Lucy Gelotte announces the engagement and coming marriage of her daughter, Hilda, to John Hill, of Alliance, Ohio, son of Forest Hill, of Canton, Ohio. The wedding will take place on September 1 in Alliance, where the bride is employed. Mrs. Gelotte is spending this week in Alliance with her daughter.

AT TOURNAMENT
Mrs. Harold Banghart and Mrs. David Beatty left Saturday for White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, where they will participate in the Mason and Dixon Golf tournament. This is the first tournament held since World War II.

WEST REVIEW PICNIC
West Review, No. 4, WBA, will hold a picnic Wednesday afternoon and evening at the home of Mrs. W. P. Arnold, 512 Conewango avenue. Members are requested to bring a turkey, bread and butter, and table service. A large crowd is hoped for.

Dorothy Ann Warr-Stephen Krogler Wed Saturday In St. John's at Tidoute

St. John's church in Tidoute was the scene of a pretty wedding at 9 a. m. Saturday, when Father Edward Jacobs united in marriage Dorothy Ann Warr, Tiffin, O., and Stephen Krogler, Cleveland, O.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Warr, of Warren, R. D. 3, and Mr. Krogler's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Krogler, Torpedo.

White glads were used in simple decoration for the nuptial mass and the marriage vows. Traditional wedding music was played by the church organist, Mrs. Carl Grettenberger, and Miss Nancy King was the soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin, with hemline graduating from floor length in the front to a train. The sweetheart neckline and long, fitted bodice were embellished with flowers outlined in silk cord, sleeves came to points over the hands, and tiny buttons closed the bodice down the back. Her single strand of pearls was the bridegroom's gift and her veil of illusion net fell from a beaded tiara. A white orchid and streamers topped her white prayer book.

Mrs. Ralph Suppa, her matron of honor, wore blue net and carried a colonial bouquet, while bridesmaids, Mrs. George Warr and Mrs. Donald Harris, wore yellow net and had similar flowers. Patty Warr, flower girl, was gown in pink and carried a basket of early fall flowers.

Joseph Krogler, Torpedo, was best man for his brother and ushers were Arthur Warr, New York City and George Warr, Warren.

Mrs. Warr chose for her daughter's wedding a frock of old rose color, and Mrs. Krogler was in aqua, each with a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

A wedding breakfast for 20 followed at 11:30 o'clock at the Bide-A-Vee Inn and the reception for 150 guests was at one o'clock at the Marconi Outing Club. Mrs. William Warr and Mrs. Ralph Suppa presided at the bride's table, where tiny figures topped the four-tiered cake and crystal candelabra held tall white tapers. Mrs. Arthur Warr cut the cake. Music for the reception was played by Orrie Beebe.

Out of town guests came from New York City; Washington, D. C.; Tiffin, O.; Junction City, Kan.; Philadelphia, Titusville, Youngsville, Torpedo and Scranton.

A wedding trip through eastern states will be terminated September 1st in Cleveland, where the couple will reside. For travel, the bride chose navy accessories and a white orchid with a navy suit.

Mrs. Krogler, who attended Warren schools and worked in the Kresge Company store, was later employed by the Gibson Restaurant in Tiffin. Mrs. Ralph Suppa and Mrs. Stephen Krogler were hostesses for a pre-nuptial party given in her honor.

Mr. Krogler attended Youngsville schools and has been employed in Kresge stores of Warren, Tiffin, Lorain and currently in Cleveland.

Trinity Memorial Church Is Scene of Seely and Black Wedding Saturday

White glads were used in simple altar decoration in Trinity Memorial church Saturday afternoon at four o'clock, when the Rev. William A. Chamberlain, Jr., assistant pastor, united in marriage Elizabeth Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Seely, 3 East Third avenue, and Richard Lance Black, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Black, 17 Branch street.

Jean Robertson played a half-hour of traditional wedding music while guests assembled, also the accompaniment for Jane Hovey, who sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride wore an ankle length gown of imported white Belgian lace over white slipper satin, styled with high, round neckline and cap sleeves. Her veil was shoulder length and pearls accented the neckline of her gown. Short lace mitts matched her gown and her costume was completed with a colonial bouquet of white glads and baby's breath.

Her father gave her in marriage and her matron of honor was the bridegroom's sister, Patricia Black. Her ankle length gown of lavender organza was styled with plain skirt and embroidered top. Peter Pan collar and cap sleeves. Her headband matched her colonial bouquet of white and lavender glads.

Gerald Black was his brother's best man and ushers were another brother, Bruce Black and Don Norris.

Mrs. Seely chose black accessories with a silk print of white, red and black and Mrs. Black wore blue crepe and matching accessories. Their flowers were red rose corsages.

The reception followed in the church parlors, with white glads and snapdragons flanked by white tapers in silver candelabra for the bride's table. Mrs. Robert Lewis and Joan McGary poured and the wedding cake was cut by Mrs. Eugene Bridges, Saginaw, Mich., sister of the bridegroom.

The 75 guests invited included those from Saginaw; Hubbard, O.; and Pittsburgh.

After a short wedding trip to an unannounced destination, the couple will return September 5, to be at home to friends at 307 Market street. The bride selected for travel a navy blue sheer with pink accessories to match the pink organza trim.

Pre-nuptial parties were given by Mrs. Robert Lewis; Mrs. Ralph A'Harris; Mrs. Kenneth Christensen; Mrs. Edith Wickstrom and Vera Martindale; Mrs. Archie Black; Mrs. Gerald Black, Patricia Black.

Fellow employees of the National Transit Company gave a bachelor party for Mr. Black.

Letters to the Editor

As a sports fan living in Warren, I would like to make a few suggestions and comments as to the War Memorial Field.

I noticed in the Warren Times-Mirror of Tuesday, August 22, that there was to be $100,000 spent on a swimming pool at the field.

That is all well and good as far as it goes. The benefit of the pool will go to the younger children up to the age of 14 or 15, which is perfectly all right for their pleasure and entertainment, but I doubt very much if there are as many children who like to swim, rather than play baseball. If that much money is to be spent, why not fix the field up in a way that everything can be made permanent as was originally planned. By this I mean: to build a grandstand to seat say 800 to 900 persons and have portable bleachers to seat 800 to 1000 people on the same style as the stadium in Jamestown.

When the baseball season is over, the high school can move the bleachers for football and others can be added to accommodate the football fans. Lights could be installed and we could have both baseball and football under the lights.

Lots of people say that a PONY League team would not pay off in Warren. Such may be the case, but I doubt it very much. It has never been tried in Warren and as yet there has been no night baseball. The working man, as a taxpayer, does not have a chance to see a baseball game in Warren as he is working during the day. If the games were played at night then he and his family can attend the games.

Warren is not as large as Jamestown, consequently build things on a smaller scale. The Warrenians that turned out at Jamestown for Warren Day certainly shows that we have baseball fans here and if we do not try to have a PONY League team here we will never know if organized baseball will take here or not.

Jamestown ran their chances and I understand they are doing all right. Smaller towns than Warren are in the league by taking their chances. After all we would have a permanent place to play ball. Why not put a ball

Interesting Talk Is Delivered Before Sugar Grove Club

Sugar Grove, Aug. 24—The opening meeting of the Sugar Grove Reading Club, was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Dorn, Thursday evening, with Mrs. Sanford Beyers, as guest speaker.

Mrs. Beyers, who is spending a few weeks here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Lore, told of her experiences during the summer of 1948, when she spent six weeks in Holland, with a group of American students at a student work camp in Texel, Holland.

There were many other students in the camp from other countries and all received mutual benefit in their association with other nationalities.

Her talk was most interesting and she showed moving pictures and others she had taken on the trip, in Holland and Paris, which they visited before coming home.

Mrs. Travers Stohberg presided at the meeting. The treasurer reported $17.60 received from the bake sale for the Sugar Grove Community Welfare fund.

Mrs. Gerald Miller, and Mrs. Howard Onink, served refreshments assisted by the hostess and Mrs. Paul Carlberg, Jr. Seventeen members and guests were present.

Mrs. C. B. Stockton and Miss Dorothy Miller, entertained at the latter's home Thursday evening, at a variety shower party, honoring Miss Edna Mae Stearns, who will soon become the bride of Marvin Thorpe. The evening was spent with games and contests with prizes going to the guest of honor, Beverly Beck, Lakewood, Phyllis Hendrickson, Chancellors Valley.

Mrs. Kenneth Loomis, Mrs. Philip

Abbott and Hazel Ann Miller. Miss Stearns received many lovely gifts, and the hostesses served dainty refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton McAllen, and sons Jeffery, Keith and Scott, who have been spending the summer with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Schoonover, left early Thursday morning to return to their home at Visalia, Cal.

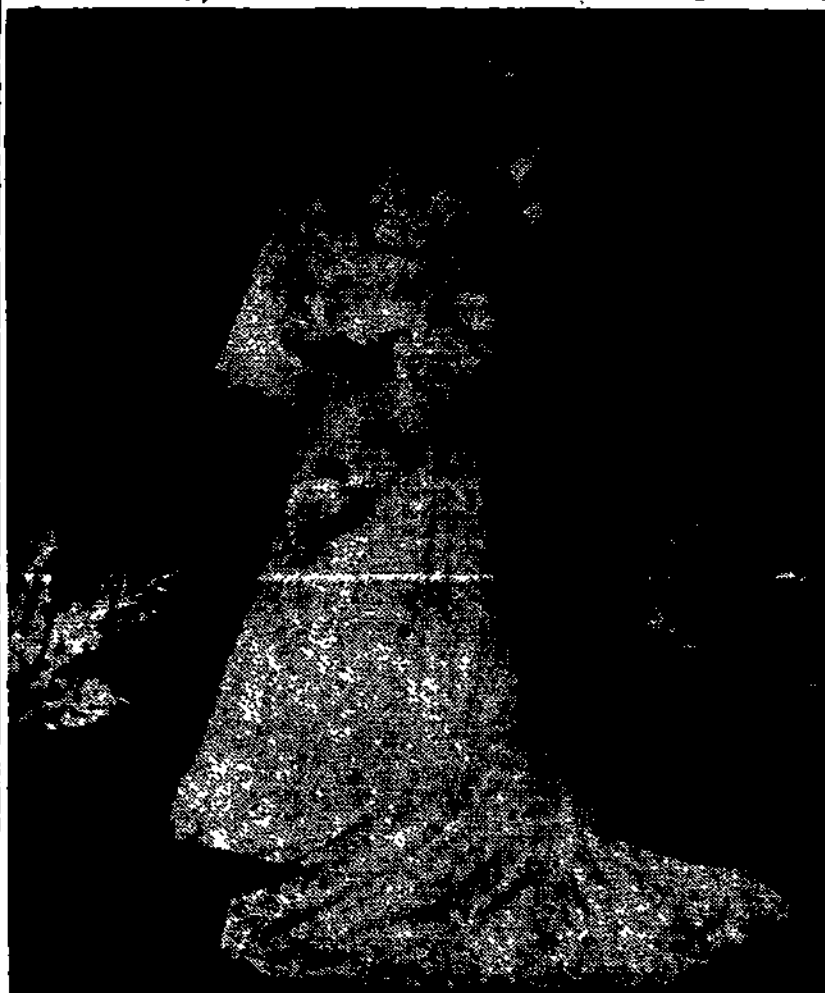

Miss Dan Riley, Little Rock, Arkansas, and Robert Williams, who is a coach and instructor in forestry, at A and M college, are guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. Jen Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Middleton, Denver, Col., Mrs. Margaret Simpson, Toledo, O., and Mrs. Maude C. Sipher, Berea, O., have been spending a few days here calling on old friends. They were former residents of Sugar Grove.

Wearing white French bridal lace and carrying a cascade arrangement of Fijl mums and ivy, Joanne Erickson was given in marriage by her father, Luther Erickson, 4 Nesmith Place, when she became the bride Saturday afternoon of William Charles Sandberg, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sandberg, 124 West Main street, Youngsville.

The ceremony was solemnized at four o'clock in Grace Methodist church, the Rev. C. W. Baldwin officiating. Palms, two large baskets of pink and white glads, and tall tapers were attractively arranged in altar decoration, while aisle pews were marked with ribbon-tied sprays of glads.

Wedding music was by Mrs. Kenneth Nielsen, organist, and Marilyn Loomis, Youngsville, who sang "Because," "At Dawning," "I Love Thee" and "O Promise Me."

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Charles Tranter, as matron of honor; Mable Morse and Lucy Trussler, bridesmaids; Clare Erickson and Sandra Sandberg, junior bridesmaids; with Georgene Mack and Bonnie Nelson, Youngsville, as flower girls.

The bouffant bridal gown, styled with hooped skirt, and long train, had a fitted bodice, with drop-shoulder yoke of illusion net outlined in seed pearls and scalloped with lace ruffling, and glove-fitted sleeves forming points over the hands. Her veil fell fingertip length from a seed pearl coronet.

Attendants, in white frosted organza over satin, had white halos and carried crescent bouquets of glads. Mrs. Tranter had yellow glads to contrast with the blue of her gown, bridesmaids had pink and blue glads with pink satin, and junior bridesmaids had deep pink glads to accent aqua satin. Their frocks were fashioned with cap sleeves and tiny Peter Pan collars in fitted bodices, and full hooped skirts topped with wide sashes of matching satin. Mitts were all of white organza. The little flower girls, sisters of the principals, wore white organza over yellow satin, with puffed sleeves, and ruffling about the

Requirements For Korea Raises Local Monthly Blood Collection Quota 25%

In a telegram received by the leaders are readying an extensive door-to-door campaign to sign up more pledged donors for future collections.

The blood program belongs to every citizen, because every citizen benefits from the humanitarian aims of the program. One hour of time, one pint of blood, may mean a lifetime to someone.

As a result of this order for whole blood, it has become necessary to raise the local monthly blood collection quotas at least 25%. This means that beginning with the bloodmobile visit at Warren State Hospital on September 19, over 125 pints of blood must be made available. There is every indication that the quota may soon reach 200 pints a month.

In addition to supplying the armed forces with adequate supplies of whole blood, the American Red Cross in every community must assume the responsibility of furnishing enough blood plasma to take care of civilian needs. Warren laboratories are being reorganized to handle the increased demands for vital blood and blood derivatives.

Every healthy American between the ages of 18 and 59 is asked to give whole blood to the program. In Warren borough, block

Resident of County Near Spartansburg Casualty in Korea

Pfc. Herbert E. Rugar, Route 3, Spartansburg, was killed in action in Korea July 25, his parents were notified by telegram over the weekend.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rugar. They live on the Warren road out of Spartansburg, east of Red Oak on the edge of Warren county.

Details were not given in the telegram.

A World War II veteran, Pfc. Rugar sailed for Japan the first or second week in July and was evidently sent directly to the front. He was with the 27th Infantry Regiment, and could not have been in Korea for many days before he was killed.

He served more than two years in Africa and Europe during his first enlistment before he was discharged in October, 1945.

He entered the Army in 1942 and was one of those who toured the United States with the Army War Show in that year. In 1943 he was sent overseas with a Coast Artillery searchlight battalion. He went to North Africa first, then to Corsica, the continent of Europe and into Germany.

The report of his death makes Pfc. Rugar the first man from this area killed in the Korean fighting.

There is a growing list of casualties, as follows:

Pfc. Thomas M. Manross, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin A. Manross of 510 North Petroleum street, missing in action on July 16.

Sgt. Gilbert E. Mayfield, who spent most of his life in Titusville, was wounded in the back and is paralyzed in Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco.

Pfc. Theodore R. Terwilliger of Union City, grandson of R. T. Lewis of Spartansburg was wounded on Aug. 3 and is now in Tokyo General Hospital.

Cpl. Richard M. Sharrow, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Sharrow, of Route 1, Titusville, was missing in action on July 25. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sharrow of Marienville.

Pvt. Donald R. Coles, who formerly lived at Route 3, Spartansburg, was wounded in action recently.

The name of Pfc. Kenneth G. Hatch, son of Francis J. Hatch, 102 Main street, Bradford, was carried on the Army's list of "killed in action" list today.

Chuck Davis Beats Creal 5-4 to Win 1950 Golf Championship at the Conewango Country Club

Chuck Davis successfully defended his Conewango Valley Country Club golf championship Saturday afternoon by beating Tim Creal, III, 5-4, in the final round of a title tournament.

Davis reached the finals of the championship flight by eliminating W. J. Sedwick and Stan Korb and Pete Juliano while Creal got a crack at the crown by bumping William T. Moore, Larry Amy and Robert Blair.

At the end of the first 18 holes in the championship match, Davis was 1-up on Creal. He toured the first 18 in 73, one over par, while Creal had 76 in the match play for the same distance.

Davis won No. 19, making it 2 up. Creal came back strong, however, to take the next two holes, and even the score.

Chuck fired pars on Holes No. 22 and 23 to again go out in front, 2-up. The next three greens were halved with no change in the count. On the 27th, Davis fired par and took the hole when Creal's second shot went wide of the green. Thus put Davis ahead, 3-up.

Davis continued matching par for Holes No. 28 and 29 to go five up. Greens No. 30 and 31 were halved to give Davis the championship, 5-4.

No change was made in the standings in the Second Flight of the tournament, except that M. Rossel won the consolation round by beating K. Vicander.

The Third Flight was won by Dr. Jim Giunta when he topped W. Dremann, 2-1, in the final round.

A pro-amateur tournament is slated at the Conewango Valley club today, and a large field from clubs throughout the district is expected.

Warren Merchants Register 5-1 Win Over Powerful Black Ash

Warren Merchants, on Sunday, did what very few teams in the northwestern Pennsylvania area have been able to do, and that's beating the powerhouse Black Ash nine on that team's home lot.

Final score favored the Warren nine, 5-1, with Dave Lopez fashioning a nifty six-hitter.

It was by far the best game played this year by the Merchants. Lopez whiffed two batters, walked two and aided his own team cause by smacking the only extra-base blow of the game, a double.

Three Black Ash pitchers, McIntyre, Marsteller and Armstrong, tried to check the Merchants, but were unable to put the fire out. They were shelled for a total of 14 hits, 10 of them from the starter, McIntyre, in seven innings.

The Merchants first two runs came in the fourth on a walk to Dan O'Shura, and singles by Bob Hammerbeck, Dave Lopez and Bill Brown. Black Ash got its lone tally in the fifth on singles by Pitt and Shoup and a wild pitch.

The Merchants iced the game with a single tally in the sixth and two markers in the eighth, the latter two runs resulting once again from a walk to O'Shura and successive singles by Hammerbeck, Brown and Reed.

AUSSIES BEGIN QUEST FOR DOUBLES TITLE

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 28—(AP)—The United States had held the Davis Cup since 1939, but the Australians, unimpressed with power as in the case of most youth won't back over the weekend.

And today, the Aussies began their quest for a double—the American national championship, which has been in this country since 1936. That year, Fred Perry of England beat Don Budge in the final for his third title in four years.

National Forge Nips Warren Merchants In First Series Tilt

National Forge nipped the Warren Merchants, 2-1, in the first of a two top Warren area nines. The game was played Saturday at the State Hospital diamond before a large crowd.

Second game in the series is slated for next Saturday afternoon, also at the State Hospital field.

The game was a thriller all the way, with Keith Vesling for the Forge and Don Gheres for the Merchants waging a tight mound duel. Vesling had five strikeouts, and allowed four hits, while Gheres whiffed 10 batters and yielded eight safeties.

The Merchants had a 1-0 lead going into the seventh inning, having got their lone tally in the first frame when Reed walked, went to second and then third on passed balls, and scored when Juliano was thrown out at first.

The Forge tied up the score in the 7th when Vesling singled, Petrowski walked and Trask singled. Winning run came in the next inning. Dean Whittaker singled and scurried on down to second on a wild pitch. Bearfield singled to center to plate Whittaker.

LAWRENCE J. THOMPSON, Sr.
Lawrence J. Thompson, Sr., 47, 51 Falconer street, Jamestown, Pa., died at 8:40 a. m. yesterday, at WCA Hospital. Born at Warren January 18, 1903, he resided in Warren until coming to Jamestown in 1939. For many years he was employed by the War House in Warren, and since coming to Jamestown he had been employed by the Plomb Tool Company.

He was a member of SS. Peter and Paul Roman Catholic Church, member of the Loyal Order of Moose and a member of the International Association of Machinists. Besides his widow, Mrs. Cornelia Thompson, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Michael Jordan and Miss Martha Thompson; two sons, Lawrence John Thompson, Jr., and John Lawrence Thompson, all of Jamestown; his mother, Mrs. Carl Matson, of Warren, one sister, Mrs. Annetta Engdahl, of Jamestown; two brothers, Theodore J. Thompson, of Jamestown, and Leonard Thompson, of Warren, three grandchildren, Linda, Roxann and Michael Jordano, all of Jamestown.

The remains are at the Boyd Funeral Home, Jamestown, where a funeral service will be held at 10 a. m. today. Burial services will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. from St. Peter and Paul Roman Catholic church. Interment will be made Holy Cross Cemetery.

SEWELL G. PERRY
Funeral services in memory of Sewall Goodrich Perry, 214 Main street, Clarendon, who passed away Thursday morning, were held from the Templeton Funeral home, Sunday afternoon at one o'clock, with the Rev. Grant L. Otter, pastor of the Clarendon Methodist church officiating. Interment took place in the family plot in the cemetery at Whitesville, N. Y.

Serving as bearers were George Allerton, Arthur Probst, George Ferguson, Webb Nobles, Hans Falchil and Rex Baker. In attendance from away were Lt. and Mrs. Ned Perry, Thomas and David Perry, Norfolk, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Howard Perry, Sheffield; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Perry, St. Marys; Mr. and Mrs. Orson Perry, Whitesville, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Perry, Shongu; Mrs. Bertha Gowdy, Wellsville, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Noah Helm, Halsey Station; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Austin; Mr. and Mrs. Mabel Locke, Mary Ruth Locke, Mr. and Mrs. John Eschen and family, Elyria, Ohio; Archie Jordan, Mrs. Bert Rader, Marion Rader, also friends and relatives from Clarendon.

EDITH GOODWILL MOURER

Edith Goodwill Mourer, 61, wife of Daniel W. Mourer, Youngsville RD 1, passed away Sunday evening at 6:10 at the home after a lingering illness. Besides her husband she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Louise Crippen, Pittsfield RD; Mrs. Helen Samuelson, Youngsville; a son, William, Youngsville RD; twelve grandchildren, one great-granddaughter, two sisters and a brother: Mrs. Ida Chase, Corry; Mrs. Bertha Bugent, North Tonawanda, N. Y., and Raymond Goodwill, Leon, N. Y. She was a member of the Brokenstraw Grange. Services will be held Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock, at the Young Funeral Home in Youngsville, the Rev. R. V. Driscoll, retired United Brethren pastor, officiating. Interment will be in the Sanford cemetery. Friends may call at the Young Funeral Home at the regular hours beginning at seven o'clock this evening.

MRS. C. C. GRETTENBERGER

Frances King Grettenberger, wife of Charles C. Grettenberger, died at 11:30 Saturday morning in Tidoute.

Born February 22, 1881, she was one of a family of seven children of the late Charles and Martha King. A life-long resident of Tidoute, she was a member of St. John's Catholic church and active in the duties of the Altar and Rosary societies. She was also president of the W. B. A. of the Macabess at the time of her passing.

Besides her husband, she is survived by one son, Karl K. Grettenberger, of Tidoute; one daughter, Mrs. Rex Blekarok, of Warren; a brother, Thomas King, of Tidoute; seven grandchildren; four great grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Services in her memory will be held in St. John's church Tuesday morning at ten o'clock with Father Jacobs officiating. Interment will be in St. John's cemetery. Friends may call at the Sage Funeral home at Tidoute at any time.

The passing of Frances Grettenberger has deprived the community as well as many true friends and loved ones, of association with one whose character reflected many of the qualities of true, sincere Christianity, kindness, quiet steadfastness, patience, and above all, tolerance.

MABEL D. WATERS

Services in memory of Mabel D. Waters, 204 Water street, widow of Wilson H. Waters, were held at the Lutz Funeral Home Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, conducted by the Rev. A. B. McCormick, retired Presbyterian minister. Interment followed at Oakland cemetery with F. E. Redding, Manley Overhurl, E. H. Colt, R. C. Thompson, A. E. Johnson and Richard Thompson as pallbearers.

Attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Waters, Miss Susan and Miss Rachel Waters, New Wilmington, Del.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wickersham, E. H. Wheeler, and Mrs. Robert Wheeler, Erie; Mr. and Mrs. John Swanson, Jamestown. The services were largely attended.

Dem Candidate Is Report On Tour Of County Libraries Blast At Opponent Tuesday Evening

Second avenue between Liberty and Pennsylvania was well filled Friday evening when Richardson Dilworth, Democratic candidate for the governorship, delivered a fighting speech aimed at independent thinkers of both parties. Previous to the political program a concert was played by the Veterans of Foreign Wars band.

The dynamic Philadelphia city treasurer blasted his GOP opponent, John S. Fine, in addresses at Tidoute, Youngsville, and Warren, including an after-dinner talk at the Carver Hotel.

Citing financial affairs in Fine's home county of Luzerne, Dilworth said in one of his addresses, "my opponent's home city of Nanticoke and Luzerne county are bankrupt and all these discrepancies in the economic status there have come to pass under his very nose."

The Democratic candidate also asserted, in his street address in Warren, "John Fine has refused to comment on assertions I have made in my campaign trip throughout the state during the past four weeks."

Dwelling on the state government, Dilworth stated, "the state payroll today includes 80,000 persons, highest in history and there are between 3,000 and 5,000 unnecessary jobs because of kickbacks in salaries. Highways have been built in the past under GOP administrations according to political needs."

Dilworth called for the election not only of a Democratic governor but a Democratic state legislature as well. He asked that Henry C. Huckstein, of Irvine, be elected to the state senate, R. F. Crippen, of Youngsville, to the legislature; that Senator Francis J. Myers be returned to the U. S. Senate and Fred C. Barr of Tidoute be elected to congress. Dilworth wound up his address by introducing Mrs. Dilworth and three of his eight children who are actively campaigning with him.

"Good government is good politics," was his final word and the battle-cry of his campaign.

Mr. Dilworth was introduced by Milburn E. Anderson, who closed the program by thanking the candidate, and asking support for the ticket at the fall election.

Report On Tour Of County Libraries Blast At Opponent Tuesday Evening

One of the interesting features in tomorrow's program at the North Warren Community House will be a report of a recent tour of county libraries by Duane Wilder, of Irvine. The oldest bookmobile library in the state at Dauphin county was visited during the celebration of its twenty-fifth year in county bookmobile library service. One of the most challenging was the regional library comprised of Bradford, Wyoming and Sullivan counties with headquarters in Troy, Pennsylvania. All of the visits with librarians and commissioners were helpful and encouraging to the Friends of the Warren County Library in their efforts to help establish a similar service in Warren county.

The exhibits committee is setting up a series of displays designed to answer many pertinent questions. The committee headed by Mrs. Archie Hunter and Robert Wilder met today in the Warren Public Library and the North Warren Community House to work out the final plans. One of the most attractive exhibits completed is a panorama of Warren county executed by Everett Stoke.

Tomorrow evening's county bookmobile program will begin at 8 o'clock and is open to everyone. It is the first county-wide meeting since the early spring and a good attendance is anticipated. The hospitality committee headed by Mrs. Karl Hager, of Clarendon, and Mrs. Walter Sanden, of Grand Valley, has asked all its members to be at the community house at 7:30. On this committee are Mrs. Donald Abraham, Youngsville; Mrs. James Belton, Warren; Mrs. Ernest Beckwith, Russell; Mrs. William Bidwell, Sheffield; Mrs. Grace Confer, Barnes; Mrs. Glenn C. Elliott, Pleasant Township; Mrs. Richard Gilson, Warren; Mrs. Stewart Kean, East Branch; Mrs. Joe Maley, Warren; Mrs. Floyd Nobbs, Chancellors Valley; Miss Clara Spade, Rogers Mills; Miss Boyd Sanden, North Warren; Miss Patti Wade, Warren; Mrs. George Warner, Spring Creek.

Following the program of the evening, refreshments will be served by a committee headed by Mrs. Clarence Hultman, of Hamlock and Mrs. Harry Lewis, of Pleasant Township. On the committee are Mrs. Sam Gigliotti, Pleasant Township; Mrs. Herman T. Moll, Russell; Mrs. Mildred Norris, Warren; Mrs. Ralph Olson, Erie; Mrs. Chris Pepke, North Warren; Mrs. Walter Peterson, Garland; Mrs. J. R. Reddick, North Warren; Mrs. Stevenson, North Warren; and Mrs. Mildred Washburn, North Warren.

TAKE-OUT BID MAY PREVENT DISASTER

"Please tell us what went wrong with us on this hand," asks a Tacoma fan.

"West opened the ten of spades, and East overtook with the jack to return his low trump. South finessed the nine of hearts and West won with the ten. West returned his remaining spade, and East won with the nine. East then returned the jack of hearts."

"It didn't really matter what South did on this trick. He was bound to lose three diamonds, three trumps, two spades and a club. He was down four for a penalty of 1100 points!"

"It seemed to us that South had a fairly good overall. After all, what are you supposed to do with a fairly strong five-card suit in a hand that contains about three honor tricks? If you keep passing such cards the enemy will steal every hand."

"West's double was very close and probably a very fine bid, but this does not settle the problem of what South should have done with his hand. Was it worth a bid or wasn't it?"

It was worth action, but it was not worth a bid South should have hand he will hasten to make a strong response to the take-out double.

If North has a moderately strong hand, North and South may be able to out-bid their opponents and play the hand at a reasonable part-score contract. If North has a weak hand, the advantage of the double is that it allows North to bid his best suit immediately. This will probably be the best spot to play the hand.

If South had doubled, North would have bid two clubs. It is perfectly true that two clubs could not be made. North can expect to win four club tricks, one heart and perhaps a spade ruff. At best, he would be down two tricks.

However, there is no double of two clubs. East and West would probably wind up playing the hand at four spades or three no-trump, making a game. Thus, however would be a lot cheaper than giving them 1100 points.

The vital point is that when your hand warrants some defensive action it may be more advisable to make a take-out double than to bid your own best suit. If your own suit is at all doubtful, it is advisable to give partner a chance to name his suit.

The RANGE DOCTOR
by OSCAR J. FRIEND
Chapter 18
AT the coroner's inquest Overstreet was acquitted as having killed Charles Hohner in self-defense. Contrary to Logan's fears, John Naylor did nothing about the death of his employer. A great load rolled off the physician's mind.
Then one morning Logan passed the land company office and found the place closed up and deserted. A For Rent sign was in the window. He told Griggsby.
The editor shook his head. "The land company isn't exactly defunct, son. Naylor's just moved over to Friole Flats completely."
"How can he operate without Kohner's money?"
"I don't know. Likely he has some of his own. He had an interest in the scheme. He'll try to limp along somehow. I'm afraid we haven't heard the last of him."
Griggsby spoke with prophecy. Logan recalled his words the Saturday morning he came upon Nolly Sims blubbering miserably beside the dirty press. The boy looked as though he had lost his last friend, and it came to the doctor with a touch of remorse that he had paid scant attention to the apprentice printer.
"What's wrong, Nolly?" he asked in quick sympathy. "Hurt yourself?"
The printer's devil started guiltily and looked around with a woebegone expression.
"No, sir," he faltered. "I—I just feel bad."
Logan studied the lad's red-dented eyes, remembering that he had been a lonely orphan himself. He reflected that he knew surprisingly little about Nolly's affairs, considering their close relationship. Griggsby had told him Nolly had come to Gila City a couple of years previous in company with a handsome young woman several years his senior. The girl, Nolly's sister, was desperate by the time she reached the newspaper office and poured her story into the editor's kindling ear.
It was commonplace enough. A pair of orphans without other kin, they were drifting from one place to another. In this particular instance the girl had found a job for herself at one of the range settlements, but she couldn't keep her brother with her. She was seeking a safe place to leave Nolly while she went back and took the job.
Needless to say she looked no further. Nolly remained with Tom Griggsby. For the first few months the sister had come regularly every Sunday to visit her brother. Then there was a change of some sort, and Nolly started going Saturday afternoons to see his sister, returning Sunday night. This arrangement had been in force since before Logan came to Gila City.
"Nolly, come here," Logan said kindly.
Reluctantly the lad approached. "Tell me your troubles, Nolly. Is it anything about your sister?"
The printer's devil burst into tears and dropped his cleaning rags. "I wasn't to let anybody know," he sobbed.
Logan waited a moment. Then: "What sort of trouble is she in, Nolly?" he probed gently. "Maybe we can fix it."
"I—I don't know, sir. Maybe she ain't in trouble. But she sent me word this mornin' she—she couldn't meet me tomorrow at Grammam Pierce's place."
"Grammam Pierce's place?" Logan mused. "Does your sister work there?"
"No, sir. We just meet there on Sunday. Agnes works at the Full Bottle in Friole Flats, and she won't ever let me go there to see her. I—I don't know what I'll do tomorrow."
Logan did not betray his surprise at this information. He smiled at the boy. "You know, Nolly," he said with a sort of brotherly philosophy intended to comfort the lad, "things always seem to work out for the best in the long run. I'll be making some calls over that way during the week, and I'll stop by to see your sister for you."
Logan meant to tell Griggsby of the incident later, but the tardy arrival of the Clearwater stage knocked all lesser things out of his mind. A hostler came running for the physician.
"Doc Logan! The Clearwater stage's been held up and Frank Nichols was shot!"
ABOUT nine miles out of Gila City and four miles across rough country from Friole Flats the Clearwater road ran straight as a taut string for two miles. Near the center of this stretch a lone hill, low and wooded with scrubby timber, lay across the way. The top of this elongated mound was flat, the trail being visible for a mile in each direction.
It had been the custom for the stage driver to stop on this high point to give his team a breather. He did so this afternoon. And a masked man with a rifle stepped out of the brush in front of the lead horse and the man down the driver and express guard.
"Reach for the sky, driver!" he ordered. "You, too, guard! Pronto does it!"
From the sage and chaparral bordering the trail, six more men sprang, covering the windows of the coach with drawn six-shooters.
"Pile out, everybody!" called the man with the rifle. "This is a hold-up. Get busy. You two men on top kick down the express box and the mail sack."
Nichols was frowning. "I know that jasper's voice," he said to Carter. "And his right hand is stiff!"
"Shut up, Frank, and help me dump this stuff," Carter muttered.
But Nichols, trembling on the verge of recognition, would not be silenced. "By gravity I know 'im. Ralph. That's Jake Holcomb who used to deal at the Texas Tommy. Pierre d'Auberg busted his hand and he's turned road agent. I—"
The man with the rifle calmly pulled the trigger. The gun cracked sharply, and Nichols jerked convulsively. He toppled backward, a bullet hole drilled through him. A woman passenger screamed, and was promptly stifled by the burly bandit nearest her.

Adventists Train For Non-Combat Duty And Will Help Organize Medical Corps

By RALPH C. TAYLOR
NEA Special Correspondent
Boulder, Colo.—(NEA)—In the pines of the front range of the Rocky Mountains, 200 young men from every state, as well as Canada and Mexico, are learning the skills of non-combatant military service.

They are members of the Seventh Day Adventist church, and after they finish will go back to their communities to train other Adventist youths in colleges, academies and state organizations, and to organize medical cadet corps.

Carlisle B. Haynes of Washington, D. C., chairman of the denomination's war service committee, points out that the men are not conscientious objectors. The church has launched a nation-wide program of non-combatant service in event of a war. The course has been approved by the U. S. Army Medical Corps.

The young men, most of them in the draft age bracket, are undergoing rigid training as exacting as military instruction. They are classified as 1-AO, which recognizes their loyalty to country but also the religious scruples against taking life for any reason. Conscientious objectors are classified as 4E.

The Adventist trainees wear regulation Army uniforms which they buy themselves. Commissions are granted by a church conference, and although they compare with regular Army ranks, are not official as far as the Army is concerned.

The men in camp are paying their own way, furnishing their own transportation, paying for their meals and for lodging. The buildings they occupy are owned by the city of Pueblo and are located in Pueblo's mountain park system.

The training includes 162 hours of Army and Red Cross courses on first aid and medical work, and a two-hour special course on atomic energy and treatment of atomic bomb victims.

Daily schedule is from 8 a. m. to 9:30 p. m. It ranges from anatomy and physiology to map reading, marches, bivouacs and tent pitching.

Red Cross field workers and church workers are in charge of the camp.

"We are ready to do all we can to aid our country," says Col. F. N. Dick of Lincoln, Neb., in charge of the camp. "Although we know war to be contrary to the purpose of God, we also know that God uses man's wrath to work out His purposes on earth. We do not laud nor defend war, and yet we know that human liberty has been advanced by wars."

"I find that several days just before my period I feel so nervous, irritable, so restless and tired—due to female functional monthly disturbances. But thank my lucky stars my druggist told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I now get simply amazing relief. Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound also relieves monthly pain. Taken regularly—it helps build up resistance against such distress."

"What I like about Lydia Pinkham's Compound is that it's made strictly from nature's own roots and herbs (plus vitamin B.)—there are no harmful drugs in it. I can honestly say I feel like a different woman since I've been taking this amazing medicine. I wish girls or women troubled this way would give it a fair trial."

P.S. Pinkham's Compound tastes swell in a little fruit juice. Or you may prefer Lydia Pinkham's TABLETS with added iron—easy to carry in your purse.

Allen Pads Point Lead In Stock Car Races at Starbrick

More than 650 local racing fans attended yesterday's program at Dicky-Ben Speedway in which the leading point-maker, Bob Allen, padded his lead by winning the first heat, the match race and the 10-mile final event.

Jamestown's Sam LaMancuso won the third heat and placed second to Allen in the finals. Bob Rumbaugh of Columbus drove his black and white No. 3 to first place in the consolation event and third in the finals.

Max Service, Salamawica, winner of the second heat was fourth in the finals. The three heats and the consolation were run on the new 3/8 track.

while the final run was run on the half-mile course.

Bob Thompson of Brocton, placed second in the first heat and was in the same position when he hit the north fence and blew a rear tire. The same thing happened to Wayne Cook of Warren in the 14th lap, but he continued driving his red No. 93, the last three laps on the rim, to win fifth place. No. 6 7/8 was halted just 50 feet from the finish line with an overheated engine.

A gasoline-engine model airplane exhibition was staged by Ed Bassett, Floyd Kifer, Bud Owens and Don Conaway, just before the final race as an added feature.

Ben White and Dick Morrison, who operate the Dicky-Ben Speedway, announced there would be races on both next Sunday and Labor Day.
